Cincinnati, Hamilton &amp; Dayton R. R.

HERE IS THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

Great land sale at East Chattanooga, Tenn., May 6, 7 and 8. Facts, figures, conditions, position, and the vast and varied resources of the city, clearly and unmistakably establish a grand and brilliant future for Chattanooga; that its future growth will be without parallel in the South, and that it will speedily become the greatest manufacturing, commercial and railroad center of the South, if not in America. Absolutely contracted and guaranteed to be erected on the property in East Chattanooga are the following: Steel factory, cotton factory, furniture factory, electric light plant, gas works, water works, brick works, boat factory, nail works, planing-mill, hotel, and many other plants, costing from $5,000 to $75,000. The property to be sold at this sale includes a variety of lovely residence sites, a large number of choice and central business lots and factory sites, with both river and railroad privileges. For the above sale the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad will, on May 6 and 8, sell excursion tickets from Indianapolis to Chattanooga, and return, for $12.50, which is a rare opportunity for the South and will be good to return ten days from date of sale. For any further information regarding the South and our city ticket office, corner Illinois street and Kentucky avenue, or address H. J. REIDEN, General Agent.

A WOMAN'S SACRIFICE.

She Denies Being Married to Save Her Husband a Charge of Bigamy.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., May 4.—Ernest Utter, a boyish-looking brakeman on the Ontario &amp; Western railroad, was arraigned before Recorder J. E. Bradner, of this city, yesterday, on a charge of bigamy. The complainant, whose maiden name was Edith Decker, testified in court that she was married to the prisoner, Goshen, on Sept. 23, 1888, by the Rev. Mr. Winans, and that after living together for five months he deserted her. She testified further, on information and belief, that she was married, in 1889, to married Jennie Griffiths, of this city.

The accused man took the witness-stand in his own defense, and swore positively that he had never been married to either of the women who claimed to be his wife. His counsel next called Jennie Griffiths to the stand. She is a pretty brunette of perhaps twenty years of age, of modest manners. Apparently her only anxiety was to save the scamp who had deceived her at any sacrifice to herself. She testified positively, in blunt contradiction of her mother, that she had never been married to Utter. The district attorney cross-questioned her sharply, but she stuck to the story with a persistency that could not be shaken. Her self-sacrifice failed to help the prisoner, for Recorder Bradner committed him to Goshen jail, in default of $3,000 bail, to await the action of the grand jury.

Fatal Epidemic of Spotted Fever.

CINCINNATI, May 4.—Additional reports of the ravages of spotted fever near Franklin, Tenn., have been received, confirming and augmenting the horrors briefly reported Friday night. The disease is unusually fatal, nine out of every ten persons attacked dying. The fever had a brief run in Sumner and Webster counties about two months ago, but disappeared, and people were greatly elated at their seeming escape; but last week it reappeared, and within forty-eight hours of its coming had taken five lives. Since then a dozen more have died, and the people of the stricken districts have about concluded to abandon it forever, as this is the fifth visitation of the fever. Farms and all kinds of stock can be bought for a song. The origin of the disease is not known. It comes without warning, and goes as suddenly.

Effect of 500 Volts of Electricity on a Boy.

BOSTON, May 4.—George Morse, a press boy in the Lynn office, attempted yesterday to try the strength of the current applied to the electric motor which supplies the power to the office machinery. He completed a perfect circuit and received the full force of 500 volts. The pressman found him unconscious on the floor. He remained insensible twenty minutes and was then taken to his home. The doctors say he will be all right in a few days.

Much colder to-day.

GREAT LABOR DEMONSTRATION.

Nearly 500,000 London Workmen Take Part in Eight-Hour Parade and Meeting. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LONDON, May 4.—This day should be a memorable one in the history of demonstrations on the part of the laboring classes of England, for it has never been equaled since the days of monster outpourings of the people which characterized the reform movement of 1838. The most moderate estimate of the number of people taking part in the Hyde Park meetings to-day is 500,000, of which 200,000 came in the procession and 300,000 gathered at will. This is a very conservative calculation, however, and some observers accustomed to gauge large crowds do not hesitate to assert that fully 1,000,000 people participated in the demonstration. There were 150 bands of music in the processions. The affair was a three-headed one, the largest number of men being under the leadership of the trades' council—a distinctly non-socialist body. A somewhat less numerous contingent acknowledged the leadership of the central committee, which leans strongly towards socialism; while a third and relatively small division was under the control of the out-and-out socialist organization known as the Social Democratic Federation. All possibility of strife or friction among the various bodies has been avoided, and the people of all shades of opinion on the labor question joined in a common movement. The trades' council procession was the largest, and for the greater part was headed by the straggling mob of ill-conditioned, dirty and ragged men, whose appearance made it plain that they represented the employed rather than the workingman. These furlow hosts made no attempt to keep step even when they were being led by music. They were wearing pell-mell, and despite the miserable appearance they manifested great good nature and indulged in much rude joking among themselves. The banners were in order, and the march was a very fine one. There were over two hundred of these emblems, adorned with all manner of notices and addresses. The most notable of these was that of Mrs. Gladstone on one side and on the reverse the grim motto: "We will ourselves to feed ourselves." The music furnished a very fine rule, and the march was a very fine one. In passing Westminster Abbey and Buckingham Palace the bands banged wildly, as if in defiance of those aristocratic residences, and it is probable that many a shudder of dismay was thus caused which could not have been produced by clubs and stones. The central committee's procession moved in much the best form, and was made up of a more well-to-do set of workmen.

When all the marchers had reached the park the speaker, Mr. W. D. Howells, the plainness of garb characterizing the assembly as a whole was largely offset by the gay banners, and by the surprising prevalence of the young folk in some churches. The bright ribbons, rosettes, etc., some being the badges of unions, others impromptu embellishments. The scene resembled a large number of fairs, and the march was a very fine one. The central platform, the park belt, three-quarters of a mile long, and half a mile wide, was crisscrossed with the marchers, and the park was a very fine one. The White-chapel district seemed to have disgorged a great number of their men, and the march was a very fine one. The crowd ebbed and flowed, and instead of one meeting there was properly speaking a continuous procession of speakers, and it is probable that the result of the paucity of speakers, it was impossible for half the people to hear what was said, and in fact, no one seemed to be listening to the speakers.
